DAYTON COUPLE SAVED

Victims' Bodies Unrecovered; Thirteen Die in Ohio Traffic Sunday

Roy Blake, 37, of Dayton, a native of Atlanta, Perry township, and his wife were drowned Sunday in Lake St. Marys when their outboard motor boat capsized during a sudden storm.

Their bodies have not been recovered.

Another Dayton couple, riding with them, was rescued. Mr. Blake, born in the Atlanta community and a resident there until his marriage about 10 years ago, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Blake, widely known Atlanta residents. He is survived also by a brother, Ed, a Mt. Sterling dry cleaner.

The fatal accident happened when the storm churned the lake into great waves that tossed the motorboat about until it turned over.

The Blakes had no children.

BY UNITED PRESS
Heavy mid-summer traffic and rains which made highways hazardous today were contributing factors to automobile accidents that claimed the lives of at least 13 persons in Ohio over the weekend.

Five persons were killed at Dola in Hardin county when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train.

The dead were: Cloyce Getz, 30; his wife, 28, and three daughters, Loretta Fay, 6, Marjorie Ann, 4, and Claudetta, 2.

A witness to the accident said the brakes of Getz' automobile failed to hold when applied on a wet highway. All occupants of the car were hurled from it by the impact.

Accidents involving motorcycles caused two deaths. At Columbus, Charles H. Long, 24, of Gallion, was killed when the motorcycle on which he was riding collided with a street car. At Canton, Robert Stuhldreher, 17, died of injuries received when his motorcycle was struck by a hit-skip driver.

Two persons died in accidents at Cleveland. Jane Wolf, 19, was killed when struck by an automobile as she ran into the street in an effort to board a street-car, and Andrew Pawtak, 64, was hurt fatally when hit by an automobile as he walked from behind a street-car.

Other traffic fatalities were: At Columbus, Eleanor May Delwert, 6, of McDonald. At Bucyrus, Mary Joan Kennedy, 10. At Hamilton, Hubert Sears, 31, and Mrs. Marie C. Shart, 32.

JAMES DOOLING, TAMMANY HALL CHIEFTAIN, DIES

NEW YORK, July 26.—(UP)—James J. Dooling, leader of Tammany Hall, died at 7:30 a. m. (EST) today.

James J. Dooling started his career in Tammany Hall when his father, Peter J. Dooling, was leader of the Fifth district, in which the son was born.

Young "Jimmy" organized a "boys' Democratic League" and subsequently, as an attorney, spent as much time getting voters out to the polls as he did getting clients out of jail, as his friends put it.

He went to Fordham University where he studied psychology and philosophy. When the United States entered the World War Dooling joined the 351st Field Artillery and spent seven months in France, where he learned the language.

He re-entered Fordham and subsequently joined the faculty, teaching Latin, Greek and mathematics.

He studied law on the side and in 1920 was admitted to the bar. In 1923 Dooling took the only public job he ever had, that of deputy public administrator at $5,000 a year. He spent nine years in the post.

When his father died in 1931 Dooling took over the fifth district leadership. Three years later John F. Curry, now dead, but then leader, angered him by taking away from Dooling a minor piece of patronage—a supreme court clerkship which the young district leader had a candidate for.

The soft-spoken Jimmy became a fighter over night. By July, 1934, he had Curry's scalp and his job.

When the 26 Tammany leaders elected Dooling their chief in 1934 as part of a campaign to give the Hall a "new deal", he was only 41, one of the youngest men ever to assume the mantle worn by the Tweeds, Crokers and Murphys.

MONKEY MAKES SHAMBLES OF ONE PET SHOP

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—(UP)—While spectators pounded at the windows, a small monkey made a shambles of Arthur Brann's pet shop Sunday, beheading rare birds and flopping gold fish onto the floor to perish.

The long-tailed South American rhesus broke from his cage while the shop was closed for the weekend. His antics drew a crowd to the windows, as he swung harmlessly from cage to cage. Then one of the canaries angered him and he started the massacre. He began with the canaries and kindred fowls, which he pulled from the cages and tore off their heads.

Shouts and hammering on the windows outside only excited him more. Before police arrived, the monkey had built up a pile of flopping gold fish on the floor. Brann arrived in time to save most of his pet stock.

Blazing Labor Issues Raised By Minimum Wage and Maximum Hour Bill

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(UP)—Congress and President Roosevelt headed today toward a test of strength on adjournment as impatient legislators sought to pare the New Deal program to a minimum, enact a remnant of the judiciary bill and go home.

The minimum wage and maximum hours bill is up for senate debate today with a Republican amendment to "equalize" responsibility of workers and employers under the National Labor Relations Act.

That proposal raises blazing labor issues. Thereafter, the senate will take up the Wagner Low Cost Housing bill or compromise judiciary legislation.

Mr. Roosevelt spent the weekend on his yacht with Sen. and Mrs. Alben W. Barkley, D. Ky.; Sen. and Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, Wis., and Gov. Phil La Follette of Wisconsin. Barkley, newly elected senate majority leader, is expected to lay before his colleagues today the program for which Mr. Roosevelt will press before adjournment.

SOLON AND 12 OTHERS JAILED FOR PICKETING

CUMBERLAND, Md., July 26.—(UP)—Thirteen men, including Robert Glenn, member of the Maryland house of delegates, were arrested for illegal picketing today as Republic Steel Corp. reopened the last of its strike-bound plants.

Ninety steelworkers returned to work in the N. and G. Taylor tin plate plant, a Republic subsidiary, under the protection of nearly 150 state and city policemen and deputies. The plant was closed May 26.

Police said the 13 men were arrested for violating a city ordinance which limited the number of pickets at the plant to six.

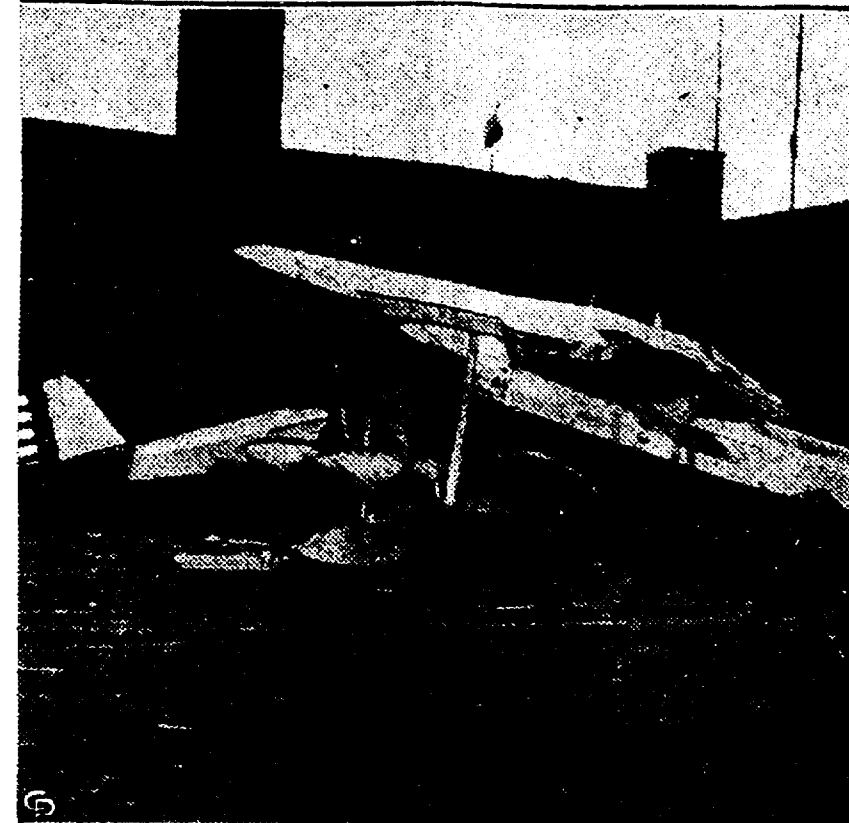

Names of the six designated pickets were provided officials. Those who appeared on the picket lines and whose names were not on the list were arrested and were to be given a hearing in justice court later today.

FATHER DOZES IN DRINK AS DAUGHTER BURNS

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—(UP)—Police held on suspicion of murder today a father who was found asleep, allegedly drunk, in the yard of a blazing home where his small daughter burned to death.

CLAYPOOL JOINS MOVE TO LIGHT RURAL REGIONS

Harold C. Claypool, congressman from the 11th Ohio district, has joined forces with the South Central Electric Co-operative, Inc., in an effort to obtain $220,000 to complete a tri-county rural electrification project.

Claypool, a Chillicothean, represents Pickaway, Fairfield, Perry, Ross and Hocking counties in the house.

He plans to confer with John M. Carmody, administrator of the Rural Electrification program, sometime this week to speed action which may provide electrical power to hundreds of south central Ohioans.

Darwin Kindler, of Lancaster, promotion manager of the Co-operative, Inc., is now in Washington conferring with officials about the possibility of obtaining the funds.

The tri-county project has already received $105,000 with which to start work in Fairfield county, but no money has been put aside for Pickaway and Perry counties, the other two in the power movement. About 2,000 farm homes, now without electrical service of any kind, will be benefitted by the work when finally completed.

MAYOR STILL UNDECIDED ON RATE ORDINANCE

Mayor W. J. Graham has not yet reached a decision on fate of the 10-year light rate ordinance voted by council last Wednesday.

The mayor has until July 31, 10 days after the council's action, to sign, veto or ignore the ordinance. "I have nearly a week," the official said, "before I must act. I haven't decided just what I'll do."

Mayor Graham may sign the ordinance, which gives the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. a 10-year contract; he may veto it, which would require another journey through council, ultimately failing to pass because of the 4 to 3 split prevailing over the question, and he may ignore it, thus permitting the legislation to become law.

A two-thirds vote is necessary to pass an ordinance over the mayor's veto.

President of Council John C. Goeller has refused to sign the ordinance. Code books checked by Solicitor Carl C. Leist fail to clear up the situation since one says an ordinance can become law without the presiding officer's signature, and another declares legislation is not legal without the president's name.

Leist may seek an attorney general's opinion to determine what may happen since Goeller refuses to approve the measure.

The ordinance, if it becomes legal, will be effective Sept. 1, new rates being paid on August bills.

FOOT TROUBLE IS EASED FOR CITY SOLDIERS

The battery company of the Ohio National Guard, formerly the motor transport outfit, will go to Camp Perry Aug. 30 with its foot problem eased. The Chamber of Commerce voted Monday to donate $20 to pay for shoe repairs for the guardsmen.

Army regulations provide the battery unit members boots, but do not grant money for shoes or for their repair. Most of the members of the unit owned army shoes before the outfit was changed from motor transport to battery company, but the shoes are in need of repair and the necessary funds are missing.

ARREST BALKS LYNCHING PLAN

Father Accused of Making Prostitutes of Two Small Daughters

MIAMI, Fla., July 26.—(UP)—Cuthbert Cogbill, a 38-year-old barber who held his two daughters, aged 13 and 16, in virtual white slavery, pleaded guilty to four statutory charges today and was sentenced to 60 years imprisonment.

County Solicitor Robert R. Taylor announced today that he would file charges involving moral turpitude against Cuthbert Cogbill, 37, a barber.

Cogbill, Taylor said, had confessed making prostitutes of his daughters, one 16 years old, the other 13.

Authorities received information from an anonymous source and Cogbill was arrested immediately in his barber shop. Gossip had been spreading for weeks and authorities claimed that the arrest had prevented a lynching.

Questioned, Cogbill was said to have indicated that he would plead guilty to the specific charges of incest and corrupting the morality of minors.

The daughters were sent to a home for juvenile delinquents.

Juvenile Officer Paul M. Martens said that Cogbill solicited patrons for his daughters among the patrons of the barber shop where he was employed. These men were received in Cogbill's home. Among the patrons, Martens said, was a 15 year old boy who will be among witnesses against Cogbill.

The girls were unwilling victims, authorities said. Both were described as "pretty." They look older than they are.

WIND FAILS TO DO DAMAGE TO COUNTY'S CROPS

Rainfall that measured nearly one quarter of an inch fell on Circleville and Pickaway county Sunday afternoon to break a week's dry spell. The rain was accompanied by a high wind that threatened to cause some damage, but a check of farmers in the various county communities failed to disclose loss in crops or property.

Contract for Night Game System Likely to be Let In Few Days

A contract for construction of a lighting system at the high school athletic field may be let this week, E. C. Ebert, chairman of the finance committee of the Circleville High School Athletic Field Improvement Assn., said Monday.

The association is dealing with a firm that will handle the complete job from digging post holes to actually turning on the lights that will permit night football and other nocturnal events.

Ebert and C. D. Kraft, in charge of solicitation, expect to complete their work early this week. They believe the lights will be ready for the first football game this fall, scheduled Sept. 17.

The athletic field will provide an entirely new picture when work is completed. The board of education has agreed to install new bleachers to accommodate the large crowds that are expected to watch night football. A plan to re-sod the playing field has been postponed for another year because athletic enthusiasts believe it is too late now to obtain the kind of turf necessary for football. However, much work will be done on the field before the schedule opens.

CHURCH CHIEFS HURL DEFIANCE AT HITLERISM

BERLIN, July 26.—(UP)—Leaders of the Evangelical church opposition, in cold defiance of a new repressive campaign by Nazi authorities, circulated all Evangelical pastors today protesting against the charges on which the Rev. Martin Niemoller is to be tried this week.

Niemoller is one of the most vigorous of the opposition leaders. He is held on charges of defying Nazi authorities, and as preparations for his trial neared completion his brother, the Rev. Wilhelm Niemoller, was arrested yesterday.

Also, Thuringian authorities forbade the Evangelical bishops of Hanover, Bavaria and Wurttemberg, all prominent in the opposition movement, either to preach or reside in their districts.

The Rev. Wilhelm Niemoller was arrested after a laudation of his brother's stand at his church in the Dahlem suburb.

The arrest of Wilhelm Niemoller brought to 67 the number of opposition pastors arrested. The manifesto sent throughout the country by opposition leaders denied assertions in German newspapers that Martin Niemoller made provocative speeches, reviled Nazi personages or disquieted the population.

PEIPING, July 26.—(UP)—Japanese troops forced their way into the ancient capital of Peiping tonight, invading the city even before expiration of an ultimatum giving the Chinese until noon Wednesday to evacuate the entire Peiping area.

Five hundred Japanese troops stormed the Changyuan gate in the south of the city, after having been refused admission. There was heavy rifle and machine gun fire.

The Japanese broke through the gate and were in control of the street 300 yards inside, firing at troops of the 29th Chinese army on the fortified west wall adjoining the gate.

NANKING, July 6.—(UP)—The Chinese government today rejected an ultimatum by Japan, demanding evacuation of Chinese troops from Peiping and its entire area by Wednesday noon.

Refusal to comply, it was understood, will mean airplane bombing of Chinese troop barracks all through the Peiping area. Foreign embassies would be warned in advance to get their nationals under cover.

Japanese sources said that Lieut. Gen. Kiyoshi Katsuki, commanding the Japanese army in northern China, handed the ultimatum in written form to Gen. Sung Chel-Yuan, head of the Northern China government, at 3:30 p. m. Thus Katsuki gave Sung 4½ hours to get the troops out.

EIGHT INJURED AS PICKETS AND POLICE BATTLE

CLEVELAND, July 26.—(UP)—Eight men were injured today as police clashed with 1,000 steel workers who blocked entrance to Republic Steel Corp.'s Corrigan-McKinney plant here.

Police charged into the pickets who had stoned automobiles as they turned into the plant entrance. Struck in the back of the head by a brick, Patrolman Rowley Oker was knocked from his horse. Trouble started at an entrance to the plant when a truck driver taking non-strikers into the plant, swerved to avoid a rock barrage and careened into a picket, who was taken to a hospital with a broken leg and possible skull fracture.

About 500 pickets were massed near the plant. As non-strikers drove toward the plant bricks crashed into the sides of their automobiles. Spotting a picket with a brick in his hand police surged into the strikers to take him out. Pickets came to his aid and the riot followed.

Niemoller is one of the most vigorous of the opposition leaders. He is held on charges of defying Nazi authorities, and as preparations for his trial neared completion his brother, the Rev. Wilhelm Niemoller, was arrested yesterday.

Also, Thuringian authorities forbade the Evangelical bishops of Hanover, Bavaria and Wurttemberg, all prominent in the opposition movement, either to preach or reside in their districts.

The Rev. Wilhelm Niemoller was arrested after a laudation of his brother's stand at his church in the Dahlem suburb.

The arrest of Wilhelm Niemoller brought to 67 the number of opposition pastors arrested.

The manifesto sent throughout the country by opposition leaders denied assertions in German newspapers that Martin Niemoller made provocative speeches, reviled Nazi personages or disquieted the population.

Police charged into the pickets who had stoned automobiles as they turned into the plant entrance. Struck in the back of the head by a brick, Patrolman Rowley Oker was knocked from his horse.

Trouble started at an entrance to the plant when a truck driver taking non-strikers into the plant, swerved to avoid a rock barrage and careened into a picket, who was taken to a hospital with a broken leg and possible skull fracture.

About 500 pickets were massed near the plant. As non-strikers drove toward the plant bricks crashed into the sides of their automobiles. Spotting a picket with a brick in his hand police surged into the strikers to take him out. Pickets came to his aid and the riot followed.

Peiping by Wednesday,
Ultimatum Says

BULLETIN

PEIPING, July 26.—(UP)—Japanese troops forced their way into the ancient capital of Peiping tonight, invading the city even before expiration of an ultimatum giving the Chinese until noon Wednesday to evacuate the entire Peiping area.

Five hundred Japanese troops stormed the Changyimen gate in the south of the city, after having been refused admittance. There was heavy rifle and machine gun fire.

The Japanese broke through the gate and were in control of the street 300 yards inside, firing at troops of the 29th Chinese army on the fortified west wall adjoining the gate.

NANKING, July 6.—(UP)—The Chinese government today rejected an ultimatum by Japanese army authorities demanding evacuation of Chinese troops from Peiping and its entire area by Wednesday noon.

TIENTSIN, July 26.—(UP)—Japanese army authorities, in an abrupt ultimatum to China, demanded today that all Chinese troops be evacuated from Peiping and its entire area by Wednesday noon.

Refusal to comply, it was understood, will mean airplane bombing of Chinese troop barracks all through the Peiping area. Foreign embassies would be warned in advance to get their nationals under cover.

Japanese sources said that Lieut. Gen. Kiyoshi Katsuki, commanding the Japanese army in northern China, handed the ultimatum in written form to Gen. Sung Cheh-Yuan, head of the Northern China government, at 3:30 p. m. Thus Katsuki gave Sung 4½ hours to get the troops out.

The ultimatum followed a pitched battle between Chinese troops and Japanese troops at Langfang, 30 miles from Peiping.

Steady Increase Shown in Local Enrollment at State University

APPLICATIONS ON FILE

Admissions for Next Year Run Ten Percent Ahead of Last Year's Figure

Pickaway is one of 70 Ohio counties to show a steady increase in the number of young men and women enrolling in Ohio State university in the last two years. The county had 129 in the four quarters of 1936-37, 108 in the preceding year, and 99 in 1934-35.

Total enrollment at Ohio State in the last year was 16,670.

Of the 88 counties in Ohio only 15 showed reductions in enrollment during the three years with three reporting no change.

Several Circleville and Pickaway county youths have filed enrollment blanks to enter the freshman class at Ohio State university next fall. Included are Forrest Croman, of Washington township, in commerce; Donald Henry, Harold A. Holland, and John W. Towers, all of Circleville, in commerce, electrical engineering, and civil engineering, respectively.

Admissions for the next term are running 10 per cent above the last year, Examiner B. L. Stradley of the university, reports.

David Herman, of Circleville, and Lawrence Wolford, of Pickaway township, students in dairy technology at Ohio State university, are employed for the Summer by the Moores and Ross dietetic laboratory, Columbus, and the Pickaway Dairy Co., Circleville, respectively.

Many Ohio State students of the dairy industry have obtained work during the vacation period.

Ecuador recently reduced tariff rates on many imported articles including dynamite, high-priced automobiles, playing cards, lard, wheat flour, canned goods and certain cotton textiles.

Prof. H. D. Brown, horticulture department, Ohio State University says delegates from 29 states at a meeting of vegetable growers recommended that more gardeners cooperate in the agricultural conservation program.

C. E. Lively, Ohio State University, in an article published recently in the American Journal of Sociology says rural people make up a stable population which tends to stay within a short distance of its original home community.

Ten years ago, this country produced three million pounds of citric acid from imported materials and sold it for $1.25 a pound. Now citric acid is made at the rate of 15 million pounds a year from domestic materials and is sold for 24 cents a pound.

The Washington Bureau of Agricultural Economics on July 15 reported, "It is probable that the seasonal low price on butter is past. The farm price of eggs has begun its seasonal rise to a peak in December. Production of apples may be 65 percent greater than in 1935."

Herbert Nichols, wife, and two children, Junior and Marjorie are here from their home at Akron for a few days visiting at the home of Mrs. Nichols' parents, the Tooles, west of Ashville. Mr. Nichols is a rubber worker, employed at the Goodyear plant at Akron for the past twenty-one years. He says work is rather slack there now. Our Pearl Griffith, son of G. D. and Mrs. Griffith has been with the Goodyear people for a number of years employed as an all-around helper. Knows the factory, every department, "like a book." When the "big boys" want to know anything in particular which is up for discussion Pearl is called into service and if he can't answer their questions, it is his special business to find out and report.

It is wheat threshing time now and the main topic of conversation among the different farmers we met and talked to Saturday evening, was about their wheat. It either had or had not been threshed and if it had, they did not hesitate to say it was the best crop they had in several years. Some of those we contacted said they were a part of a "threshing ring" and that their "ring" was not yet more than half through. Bushels of wheat shipped from this point for the entire week, amount to at least one hundred thousand. Tried to find out just about how many threshing outfits there were in operation in the Ashville community, but those of whom we made the inquiry would not venture a guess.

"There sure are a lot of 'em," combines in number would reach fifty for the whole county.

The Smith-Hall Reunion, so Mrs. Kotura Nothstine told us yesterday, is this year to be held at the home of S. M. Smith and family near Duvall. The second Sunday in August is the date—August 8.

Dr. Chester Beckey, wife and son Junior are vacationing this week at one of the Indiana Lakes where the finny tribe is plentiful and always hungry.

Jesse Kaiserman, wife and daughter went to Cleveland Sunday to give the new grandson the once over. The parents of this new babe are Julius and Mrs. Kaiserman. Gladys Vause and her friend, Miss Nell Andrix, of Columbus, are contacting many points of the South by auto this week.

Ashville News items of July 1927, ten years ago, William Cordray entered Mt. Carmel hospital last week for treatment for diabetes. A portion of one of his feet was amputated. Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey will do battle in the fistic arena at New York City today, Thursday July 21. Attorney Tom A. Renick and bride after having spent a fortnight in Yellow Stone National Park honeymooning, have returned to the home of the groom's parents. The groom is the Ashville Village solicitor and a promising young attorney of Circleville. Miss Clara C. Crook of Lancaster was elected director of music at a meeting of the school board Wednesday night. She is well qualified for the place. The homes of George Barch and John Carle near Fox were burglarized Saturday night and clothing taken. Thirteen dresses, a suit of men's clothing and a watch were taken.

Court Records Confirms Sale of Maizo Mills

An entry on file in common pleas court confirms the recent sale of the Maizo Mills property, W. Main street, to J. W. Hackett, receiver for the Toledo First National bank, and G. Dana Harrington, Columbus, and associates.

The bank receiver purchased real estate and Harrington bid in all equipment and stock of the mill at sales conducted by Charles Radcliff, sheriff and Earl Sweptson, U. S. auctioneer.

The Maizo Mills property formerly belonged to C. C. Truax, now of Columbus.

The entry confirming the sales was signed by Judge J. W. Adkins and attorneys for all parties concerned.

COUNTY TO BE REPRESENTED AT 4-H SESSION

About 175 older members of 4-H clubs, including several from Pickaway county, will meet at Camp Ohio, August 16 to 19, to receive a course of instruction on the conservation of natural resources.

This will be the second such camp held in the state and, as at last year's camp, a girl and a boy from each county will be invited. Instructions will be given by leaders in the various fields of conservation.

Dr. George T. Harding, Columbus, has the hardest topic, human conservation through mental hygiene; Arthur Harper, H. E. Eswine, and E. S. Thomas, all three Columbus naturalists, have charge of that field, and T. H. Langlois, assistant director of the Stone Laboratory, Put-in-Bay, will teach water conservation and fish culture.

The soil conservation service will furnish Charles Walker and Charles Dambach, both from Zanesville, and Eugene Good, Columbus, as teachers, and the experiment station at Wooster supplies Elizabeth Burrage, geology, and F. W. Dean, forestry, C. R. Bibbee, Cincinnati, county agricultural agent, will be the firearms expert.

The list from the university staff includes R. D. Barden, agricultural engineer; Dr. G. W. Beall, home economics; R. C. Clark, rural sociology; Prof. E. L. Dakan, poultry husbandry department; D. R. "HUSBANDS AND WIVES"

Speakers on the "Husbands and Wives" broadcast Tuesday night, July 27, will describe a few of their favorite ways to stop a husband, from forgetting appointments with his wife.

Both men and women will be heard on the subject—wives who have discovered sure-fire methods to prevent being "stood up," and husbands who have had the theories tried out on them.

Other speakers on the broadcast over the NBC blue network, will tell what should be done about wives who are easy marks for all "peddlers" who might come to the door.

Answers to the other questions are matters of opinion, and a few opinions will be expressed. The questions:

"What are the 'sweetest things' husbands and wives ever did for each other?" and "Are pets good substitutes for couples when there are no children?"

AUTOIST DOZES, HITS POLE AND DAMAGES HEDGE

An electric light pole was snapped off, a hedge was damaged and a lawn was torn up at 1:25 a. m. Monday when Clyde Leist, W. Main street, went to sleep driving his automobile on N. Scioto street.

The vehicle, a Ford coupe, jumped the curbing in front of the Oscar Howard and George Roth residences and struck the light pole before Leist was awakened. Before he could gain control of the machine it damaged the Howard and Roth properties.

Leist, who told police he fell asleep, was unhurt.

GANGSTERS IN CITY, COPS TOLD, JAIL INFORMER

William Maloney, city, told police Sunday morning that the Brady gang, self-named "Little Dillingers", had invaded Circleville and was menacing W. Main street storekeepers. As a result Maloney was in the county jail, Monday, to serve out $10 and costs for making false reports to authorities.

Patrolman Harry Wilson was on duty Sunday morning when a telephone call informed him that "several men, probably the Brady gangsters," were in town.

He obtained sidearms, called Night Patrolman George Green out of bed and went to W. Main street where the "suspects" were reported. Maloney was the only "man" present. The officers investigated and were told that Maloney had informed several storekeepers that "several men with guns" were in town.

He pleaded guilty when he faced Mayor W. J. Graham Monday morning.

The battle is on—Erl Roman, famous sportsman, vs. 600 lbs. of savage, fighting, blue marlin!

How would your nerves stand up to two hours of this?

ERL ROMAN LANDS A BIG ONE!

AQUAPLANE EXPERT Miss Gloria Wheeden is a typical American outdoor girl. "Yes, I smoke," she says. "Like all my crowd, I enjoy Camels—especially at meal-times."

WHEN I'M TIRED after a match or need extra energy, Camels give me a "lift" in energy," says Joanna de Tuscan, U. S. Women's Foils Champion. "Camels do not make my throat harsh."

BENNY GOODMAN SWINGS IT EVERY TUESDAY NIGHT!

Tune in! Hear the trio—the quartette—and all of Benny's boys swing the popular favorites. Every Tuesday at 8:30 pm E.S.T. (9:30 pm E.D.S.T.), 7:30 pm C.S.T., 6:30 pm M.S.T., 5:30 pm P.S.T., over WABC-Columbia Network.

AS the Miami, Florida, "Herald" said of Erl Roman's struggle with the big fish (above): "The battle was tough. Erl had his hands full staying in the fishing chair." But a sporting spirit and healthy nerves kept Roman going. After a 2-hour fight, he landed the second-largest blue marlin ever taken on rod and reel. "Healthy nerves are necessary for keeping on top. Camels don't get on my nerves," Erl says. Above, right, Mr. Roman enjoys good digestion and a Camel after his tense fight. "I make it a point," he says, "to smoke Camels with my meals and after 'for digestion's sake.'"

Smooth Blending of Costly Tobaccos. Camels are made from costlier tobaccos, in a matchless blend. A mild, cigarette for steady smoking that does not rasp the throat or upset the nerves.

CAMELS NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES

COSTLIER TOBACCOS
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS... Turkish and Domestic... than any other popular brand.

LIONEL STANDER

Lionel Stander, movie player, will be the guest star on the Benny Goodman Swing School on CBS, Tuesday, Stander, who is famous for his rasping voice, will exchange quips with the swingmaster and give his views on the current swing craze.

Stander is a native New Yorker, attended the University of South Carolina. His first professional stage engagement was with the Provincetown Players. Later he served with the Theatre Guild, and then was featured in the films. His radio experience came as one of Fred Allen's Mighty Allen Art Players group.

Also featured on the program will be the swing tune of the week picked by Goodman from his fan letters.

"HUSBANDS AND WIVES"

Speakers on the "Husbands and Wives" broadcast Tuesday night, July 27, will describe a few of their favorite ways to stop a husband from forgetting appointments with his wife. Both men and women will be heard on the subject—wives who have discovered sure-fire methods to prevent being "stood up," and husbands who have had the theories tried out on them.

Other speakers on the broadcast over the NBC blue network, will tell what should be done about wives who are easy marks for all "peddlers" who might come to the door.

Answers to the other questions are matters of opinion, and a few opinions will be expressed. The questions:

"What are the 'sweetest things' husbands and wives ever did for each other?" and "Are pets good substitutes for couples when there are no children?"

AUTOIST DOZES, HITS POLE AND DAMAGES HEDGE

An electric light pole was snapped off, a hedge was damaged and a lawn was torn up at 1:25 a. m. Monday when Clyde Leist, W. Main street, went to sleep driving his automobile on N. Scioto street.

The vehicle, a Ford coupe, jumped the curb in front of the Oscar Howard and George Roth residences and struck the light pole before Leist was awakened. Before he could gain control of the machine it damaged the Howard and Roth properties.

Leist, who told police he fell asleep, was unhurt.

GANGSTERS IN CITY, COPS TOLD, JAIL INFORMER

William Maloney, city, told police Sunday morning that the Brady gang, self-named "Little Dillingers", had invaded Circleville and was menacing W. Main street storekeepers. As a result Maloney was in the county jail, Monday, to serve out $10 and costs for making false reports to authorities.

Patrolman Harry Wilson was on duty Sunday morning when a telephone call informed him that "several men, probably the Brady gangsters," were in town.

He obtained sidearms, called Night Patrolman George Green out of bed and went to W. Main street where the "suspects" were reported. Maloney was the only "man" present. The officers investigated and were told that Maloney had informed several storekeepers that "several men with guns" were in town.

He pleaded guilty when he faced Mayor W. J. Graham Monday morning.

The battle is on—Erl Roman, famous sportsman, vs. 600 lbs. of savage, fighting, blue marlin!

How would your nerves stand up to two hours of this?

BENNY GOODMAN SWINGS IT EVERY TUESDAY NIGHT!

Tune in! Hear the trio—the quartette—and all of Benny's boys swing the popular favorites. Every Tuesday at 8:30 pm E.S.T. (9:30 pm E.D.S.T.), 7:30 pm C.S.T., 6:30 pm M.S.T., 5:30 pm P.S.T., over WABC-Columbia Network.

AS the Miami, Florida, "Herald" said of Erl Roman's struggle with the big fish (above): "The battle was tough. Erl had his hands full staying in the fishing chair." But a sporting spirit and healthy nerves kept Roman going. After a 2-hour fight, he landed the second-largest blue marlin ever taken on rod and reel. "Healthy nerves are necessary for keeping on top. Camels don't get on my nerves," Erl says. Above, right, Mr. Roman enjoys good digestion and a Camel after his tense fight. "I make it a point," he says, "to smoke Camels with my meals and after 'for digestion's sake.' Smooth Blending of Costly Tobaccos. Camels are made from costlier tobaccos, in a matchless blend. A mild, cigarette for steady smoking that does not rasp the throat or upset the nerves."

LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY IS HERO IN DEATH

Original "Sweetness Boy" Saves Four Lives and Dies of Heart Attack

FEARED BEING "SISSY"

Vivian Burnett Tried for Years to Live Down Early Reputation

MANHASSET, N. Y., July 26 — (UP)—Little Lord Fauntleroy, once a boy with long black curls in velvet jacket and stiff white collar, lay in his coffin today. He died a man of 61, a few minutes after rescuing four persons from drowning.

He was Vivian Burnett, son of the novelist, Frances Hodgson Burnett, who created the prototype of childish sweetness and light of the fond mothers of 50 years ago, and was the unwitting torturer of thousands of little boys squeezed very much against their will into the troubled costumes celebrated as little Lord Fauntleroy suits.

Burnett was sailing his yawl, Delight III, yesterday. He found four persons from an overturned sailboat clinging to a buoy. He and his crew rescued them and while the Delight was en route to shore, he collapsed of a heart attack and died.

Boy Asked for Books

Mrs. Burnett wrote in a magazine article years after her novel had had its sensational success, that her seven-year-old son had approached her, saying: "Why don't you write a book for little boys like me?" She thereupon sat down and wrote the story of the crotchety old Earl of Dorincourt who was estranged from his daughter. Happily, the daughter had a little boy, called Little Lord Fauntleroy, who was a paragon of all virtues, and who reconciled his grandfather and mother.

This article appeared while Burnett was a Harvard undergraduate. He thought he had succeeded in living down what to his juvenile companions was a disgrace, since to the boyish mind to be a Little Lord Fauntleroy was to be a sissy.

Outstanding Athlete

Burnett immediately went out for all the strenuous athletics and made the track team. After graduation, he began a journalistic career as a two-fisted newspaperman in Denver which then was a two-fisted newspaper town.

But in later years, Burnett learned to appreciate the human sentiments and implications of his mother's novel. In a muckracking area of journalism, he found his profession not to his taste, and retired to the magazine field. For years he was editor of a children's magazine and of magazines on art and literature. His later years were spent as the administrator of his mother's library estate. She died in 1924.

The novel, Little Lord Fauntleroy, sold in the millions of copies, and still sells. It was made into two motion pictures. Years ago Mary Pickford played the little boy, and a few years ago Freddie Bartholomew played him.

Burnett was the author of a book of appreciation of his mother. He was an ardent prohibitionist and once ran for office in New York state on the prohibition ticket.

FARM LABORER HELD ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

Alvis Williams, 21-year-old farm laborer was in the county jail Monday awaiting a hearing on charges of forgery, filed by Wayne Smith, Monroe township farmer.

Williams was arrested for Sheriff Charles Radcliff in Mt. Sterling Sunday night by Officer Harry Dixon.

Smith, once an employer of Williams, filed the charge last week after the youth, a native of Kentucky, allegedly forged a check for $14.15.

Williams' hearing will be before Justice of Peace H. O. Ebeland.

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN HAROLD K. CLAYPOOL

THIS COLUMN is initiated in an effort to present to constituents of the Eleventh Congressional District a picture of development in the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial branches of the National Government. I am led to believe that the readers of THE DAILY HERALD are interested in these occurrences because of the inquiries received in my office through the mail.

VISITORS—Visitors from home this week included Mrs. Fred Betz, Mrs. Mary Kathe, Mrs. Charles Nangle, Miss Mary Ann Clark, and Miss Elizabeth Donnels, all of Chillicothe, Darwin Kinder, and Mr. Belt, representing the South Central Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Lancaster. Miss Elizabeth Riehl of Chillicothe, who is employed here in Washington, also called, as did Ned Holden, and James Van Atta of New Lexington.

FOREIGN DEPOSITS—Much has been said recently concerning the huge foreign deposits in the United States which run into the billions. Fear has been expressed that a market collapse would suit if these foreign deposits were suddenly withdrawn. Up to the present time no action has been taken on this problem. However, it is now reported that the Federal Reserve Board has a plan to discourage the piling up of foreign deposits and will shortly submit the proposed scheme to Congress.

DEATH IN NEW DEAL—

Death has struck many times in high places during President Roosevelt's Administration. According to one tabulation Joe Robinson is the tenth Senator of national prominence to pass away during the New Deal and the twenty-third outstanding Federal official. A list of the officials who were high in administration circles but who have been called includes Attorney General-designate Thomas J. Walsh, White House Secretary Louis McHenry Howe, Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, Secretary of War Dern, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, Speakers Rainey and Byrns and eight or ten members of the House.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE—Representatives of foreign nations who have been hoping that President Roosevelt would preside over an international economic conference are doomed to disappointment. The President has let it be known that he has no intention of calling or presiding over such a conference.

TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY—Little hope is being held for the enactment of additional TVA legislation and the creation of additional power authorities in various parts of the U. S. A body blow was struck such legislation when the grand old man of the Senate, George Norris of Nebraska was ordered by his physician to remain away from the Capitol during the hot weather. Norris is 76 years of age and is the father of such progressive legislation as the "Lame Duck" amendment and the original TVA bill. He was born in Sandusky County, Ohio, and educated at Baldwin University, Berea, Ohio.

COURT OF IMPEACHMENT—The Senate has sat as a Court of Impeachment 12 times. In four

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

The power of Rudyard Kipling's saga of the sea, "Captains Courageous," attains its greatest force in the dramatic picture which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has brought to the screen at the Cliftona Theatre.

The characters are portrayed with rare artistry and the medium, of course, provides a scope far beyond that which the writer is permitted. M-G-M, with characteristic vigor, has omitted no detail that would bring into visual and audible play the genius of the master writer.

AT THE GRAND

Fernand Gravet, French film star, makes his screen bow in "The King and the Chorus Girl," Warner Bros. production, playing Monday and Tuesday at the Grand theatre.

The cast includes Joan Blondell, Edward Everett Horton, Alan Mowbray, Mary Nash, Jane Wyman, Kenny Baker and Luis Albern.

cases the persons against whom the proceedings were instituted were removed from office, six cases resulted in acquittals, and in two cases the charges were dismissed. The first case was tried in 1799 against William Blount, a Senator from Tennessee. Charges were dismissed for want of jurisdiction. The last case was against Halsted L. Ritter, U. S. District Judge, who was removed from office April 17, 1936. The most famous impeachment case was against President Andrew Johnson in 1868 and was acquitted. When a President of the United States is being impeached the Chief Justice of the United States presides over the Senate. Of the twelve officials tried 9 were Federal Judges, one a President, one a Senator and one a Secretary of War.

FAR EAST SITUATION—Should China and Japan go to war, the United States would have a serious problem to face. The neutrality law on our statute books, forbids the shipping of essential war materials to belligerent, but permits a belligerent to send to those shores for such good and carry them away for cash. In case of war Japan with its navy and commercial power would be able to help itself to the goods on American docks, while China would be helpless. The President has been conferring at length with the Under Secretary of State, Sumner Welles and Ambassador-at-large Norman Davis, and John V. A. MacMurray, former Minister to China.

SOCIAL SECURITY—Every State and territory in the United States now has an unemployment insurance law that conforms with the Social Security Act. The last State law, that of Illinois, was approved by the Social Security Board. It is estimated that nearly twenty-one million workers are in employments covered by the 51 approved unemployment insurance laws which provide compensation to employees who lose their jobs through no fault of their own. The amount given, varies in different States.

AIR TRADE—As a result of the opening up of the trans-Atlantic service between this country and England, air trade between the United States and foreign countries over the "Seven Seas", is seen by Secretary of Commerce Roper. Roper asserted that he believed "American aircraft builders are far more anxious to supply ocean-trade airliners than trans-oceanic bombers."

POLITICAL BILLIONS

SPENDING bills introduced in the first four months of the present Congress total almost 200 billion dollars—six times the national debt. This is more money than the Government will collect in over two and a half decades.

The Administration alone is not to blame for the attempted raid on the public treasury. Many of the money bills have originated in the minds of individual Congressmen.

No wonder President Roosevelt, with all his big spending proclivities, saw fit to run up the danger flag and plead for an era of relative economy.

If even a tenth of the financial measures
now before Congress were enacted, America would be dead broke before the end of another fiscal year.

LOOK OUT, SEA SERPENTS!

PEOPLE just won't let monsters alone.
so that creature supposedly dwelling in the White River in Arkansas is to be chivvied out, if possible. A big net, forty feet long and fifteen feet wide, with six or eight-inch mesh, is being specially constructed for snaring the White River monster.
A convoy of motor boats will sweep it through the area where it is thought the fellow has concealed himself from prying humans.

Skeptics expect to see a manatee or a sea cow fished out, either of which might have come up the river from the Gulf of Mexico. There are outright disbelievers who say the net will pull up some old scow rotting on the river bottom. The funny thing about such a situation is that those who "saw" the monster will go right on believing in it no matter what disillusioning rubbish is fished up in the net.

MAKING BOOKS

BIRTH CONTROL for books of fiction, advocated by a speaker before the American Library Association, would spare libraries the necessity of later plowing them under.

From the soil of fiction more than 1,300 new titles sprouted last year. Despite the movie and the radio an army of readers still lures the teller of romance and detective stories to higher production.

That the volumes in a few months will gather more dust than last year's hat is a tragedy that doesn't bother the author if he can bask in a few hours of sunshine.

It may turn out that the Wagner Act was drawn up at Versailles.

The United States, with the exception of Washington, D. C., lies in the temperate zone.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up to find the beginning of the new week all aglow with sunshine so, feeling pleased by prospects, did find much enjoyment in the morning coffee and prints. Then away to the plant where did find much of the staff at labor, clearing the decks after last week when we operated four short and found the going difficult.

Out and about the paves, falling in with Jim Smith and his son, Jim expressing firm conviction that now is the time to go after boulevard lights for the ville. He is of the opinion that they should be burning by Pumpkin Show time. Chatted with Lawrence Goeller, downtown to buy smokes against Saturday night forgetfulness.
The Kippy Kit plant is broadening its line gradually and unless the scrivener's guess is much worse than usual, will one day be prominent among the big industries of the district.

Here comes Chris Swartz, who this year took up fly fishing, and is as much worried over

missing a half dozen strikes
Saturday in Scioto. Exchanged grief with him, explaining the loss of two nice bass just before sundown in Yellowbud and told how Ernie Weller landed two nice ones and lost two, even though he took off his clothes and went right in after one that got away by tangling the line in a flood gate. Was the guest of Chris while we cried in our Coca Colas at John Ryan's soda fountain.

Business came back to town
with a big bang Saturday night, the streets being thronged by farmers who by this time are well ahead with their threshing. Many of them now are able to buy merchandise that they needed last year, but were unable to purchase then on the income from drought ridden acres.

What a grand and glorious place is that Renick-Young homestead south of the city.
Visited the Youngs as guest of the Frank Goffs and ever will be indebted to them for showing me the house that I would rather own than any one I have ever seen. How proud Mrs.
Young is of that 105 year old dwelling, and with what right!

Were it mine I would spend all my time there in its soothing comfort, admiring architecture and craftsmanship that were put into a house to make it a home, not for the purpose of calling attention to wealth of the owner. Most folk would have had electric lights in that dwellling long ago, but not the Youngs. Candles light it along with a few century-old kerosene lamps. Give me that century-old hard pine floor in the great living room and you keep your finest Oriental rugs and welcome to them. I'll take the candles and kerosene lamps and strain my eyes if I can find time to read at night, and you use brilliant electricity. Not a sign of wear on those glorious floors, yet a stone step leading from the dining room into the kitchen is worn down two inches or more. Mr. and Mrs.
Bernard Young really live and the scrivener envies them.

The family is back from vacation, full of enthusiasm about Niagara Falls and disappointed by the Great Lakes Exposition which is claimed not so good as last year.

Merry-Go-Round

COWARDICE CAUSES ADJOURNMENT

WASHINGTON — All the talk about Washington weather as the motive for adjournment of Congress is pure poppycock. The weather has been no worse than in 1935, when Congress sat all summer—
in fact, recent weather has been delightful.

Moreover, Congress has not overtaxed itself with work.
It is true that Congress has been in session a long time—7½ months. But being in session and actually working are two different things. During this 7½ month period, the Senate has sat only 100 times,
and frequently for not more than an hour.
The House has met 180 times, sometimes also for very short periods.

In other words, out of 7½ months the Senate has been on the job a little over 3 months and the House about six.

Actually, the adjournment burr under the congressional blanket is not physical exhaustion, but political cowardice.

Real fact is that most of the boys don't want to vote on such issues as wage-hour regulation, farm tenancy relief, housing, taxation, government reorganization. Privately they are against these measures, but if put on the spot would not dare vote against them. So they want to duck a showdown and go home.

NOTE: Senators and Congressmen are paid $10,000 a year no matter how long or short a time they spend in Washington.

CHERCHEZ LA FEMME

Behind Governor Lehman's blast against the President's Supreme Court bill was his wife, the former Edith Altschul.

Mrs. Lehman is the sister of Frank Alts-schul, member of Lazard Freres, international bankers, and chairman of the listing committee of the New York Stock Exchange. Partly because of the influence of her brother, she always has been cool toward the New Deal.

Also, Mrs. Lehman tried to persuade her husband not to run for a third term last year. But under the vigorous urging of Roosevelt and Senator Bob Wagner, Lehman entered the race. The result was not nearly so good as in previous years.

In 1932 Lehman's vote ran far ahead of the President's, and in 1934, he piled up a record-breaking majority. But in 1936 to everyone's surprise, he trailed 600,000 behind Roosevelt.

The President's friends say that Mrs.
Lehman very much resented this poor showing and privately attributed it to the Washington regime. Several months ago, they assert, she urged her husband to take a stand against the judicial legislation and as a result he actually drafted a statement,
but was persuaded by members of his staff
to withhold it.

It's restful to learn the daily program of the college girl home for a vacation. "She sleeps till noon, and in the afternoon she rests."

We appreciate resourcefulness, and yet
can see the point of view of the librarian who complains because a patron used a strip of bacon for a bookmark.

Even so gifted a people as Americans can learn something new, and one thing
the nation learns increasingly is to mind its own business.

How It Was Learned That Parasite Cause Scabs

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
ON JUNE 20, 250 years ago, an Italian named Cosimo Bonomo discovered that the cause of the common itchy eruption of the skin was due to a small spider-like insect, the parasite of scabies.
This discovery was of an importance far transcending its intrinsic value,
because for the first time it was proved that a human disease was due to entrance into the body of something from the external world.

Dr. Clendening

The ideas that were prevalent at that time were that disease was due to changes in the chemistry of the blood or to the dislocation of the theoretical four humors of the body. That an insect, or plant, or poison from outside could enter into the body and make changes was, curiously enough, never given serious consideration. And, indeed, it was not until much later—in 1854—that Bonomo's idea gained any wide popularity.

This was when Renucci, a medical student in Paris, showed the great professor of skin diseases there what he had learned from the old market women in his native Corsica. Renucci remembered seeing these old women pick the itchy places on their fingers with a needle until they extracted a small, wriggling insect, and when he saw the same disease in the clinic, he demonstrated to the professor that it was a scabies insect which caused the eruption.

Scabies, or the itch, is supposed to be a disease of filth and poverty, but it frequently appears among those who are known as the upper classes. It occurs most frequently in the thin skin between the fingers, although it may appear on any part of the body. I have known of cases that were treated for many weeks before the actual nature of the eruption was recognized. It was thought that because the patient was a member of the well-to-do classes in high society that it was impossible for the itch to attack him. The application of sulphur ointment in a few days ended not only the annoying itching and the eruption, but also the idea that it was due to allergy or hypersensitivity, or eczema.

are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet,"
"Indigestion and Constipation,"
"Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Poems That Live
I pass my days among the quiet places
Made sacred by your feet.
The air is cool in the fresh woodland spaces.
The meadows very sweet.

The sunset fills the wide sky with its splendor.
The glad birds greet the night;
I stop and listen for a voice strong,
tender,
I wait those dear eyes' light.

You are the heart of every gleam
of glory,
Your presence fills the air,
About you gather all the fair
year's story;
I read you everywhere.

—Alice Freeman Palmer.
"THE DAY RETURNS"
The day returns, my bosom burns,
The blissful day we twa did meet;
Though winter wild in tempest
toiled,
Ne'er summer sun was half so sweet.

Than a' the pride that loads the tide,
And crosses o'er the sultry line—
Than kingly robes, and crowns and globes,
Heaven gave me more—it made thee mine.

While day and night can bring delight,
Or Nature aught of pleasure give—
While joys above my mind can move,
For thee, and thee alone, I live.
When that grim foe of life below
Comes in between to make us part,
The iron hand that breaks our band,
It breaks my bliss — it breaks
my heart.

—Robert Burns.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

Mary worked all that night.

at her side was pitcher after pitcher of iced coffee.

Across the courtyard, Mrs. Gallagher reached sleepily for the alarm clock, shut it off and shook her husband into wakefulness.

"Get up, Mike. It's 6 o'clock and time you wuz gittin' me breakfast tray." That was Mrs. Gallagher's little morning joke. Then she got up and cooked sausages and pancakes, put them on the table and lowered herself into a place opposite her ruddy-faced mate. She looked out the window across the courtyard and stirred her coffee.

"Will you lookin'?" She waved her spoon to the window where a light still blazed across the way. "That poor little thing is still workin'." All night, too.
Ah, it's glad I am, Mike, you're a prosperous cop. I'd hate to be havin' a creer like that."

It was only 8 when Mary entered the Castle shop that morning. She didn't go directly to her studio; she stopped at Tony's desk and laid the contents of her portfolio there. Then she went out to a longshoreman's breakfast of sausage and pancakes.

"What's the matter with all of you? Wasn't any one of you aware of what was going on here yesterday? Somebody must know where these came from! Am I supposed to believe in Santa Claus?"

The angry, excited voice was Tony's. Mary paused in the passageway and hugged herself silently. Then she knocked at his door and opened it.

"Perhaps Mary knows where these came from. They aren't even signed. Some nit-wit . . ."
She looked at the sketches.
"Oh," she said casually, "they're mine."

"You . . . you mean these are your originals?" Incredulous.
She nodded.

When the others had gone, she picked up the sketches one by one.

How It Was Learned That Parasite Cause Scabs

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
ON JUNE 20, 250 years ago, an Italian named Cosimo Bonomo discovered that the cause of the common itchy eruption of the skin was due to a small spider-like insect, the parasite of scabies. This discovery was of an importance far transcending its intrinsic value, because for the first time it was proved that a human disease was due to entrance into the body of something from the external world.

The ideas that were prevalent at that time were that disease was due to changes in the chemistry of the blood or to the dislocation of the theoretical four humors of the body. "Phew! You don't mind if I try to cool off, do you?"

"Not at all," Mary answered pleasantly, "if you give me the secret."

"You may think it's hot here but you ought to be in the boss' office," Kay retorted. "Between the temperature and his temper."

"Temper?" Mary asked mildly. Tony had the reputation among his employees of being "sweet."

"Maybe you'd call it agitation. Can't say I blame him. Henry Gordon just sent over a play for him to costume"—she waved a blue-covered manuscript in the air—"and Francine would take this time to have appendicitis. He's called out every good designer in New York and no luck! Most of them are in Paris for the openings."

A bell began to tinkle distantly in Mary's agile mind. Quite casually she nodded toward the blue-covered manuscript. "Is that the play?"

"It is! And I've got to type six copies of the darn thing. Isn't that just my luck when Herb wanted to take me out to Westchester tonight? How I'll ever—"

"Can type it for you," Mary said as if it were nothing more than a nice gesture. "As soon as I finish this sketch I'm through. That sales copy takes a lot of work off my hands today. I'm a pretty good typist." Then she added:

READ THIS FIRST:
Ambitious to be a dress designer, Mary Barrett accidentally meets Tony Castle, owner of a smart New York dress shop. After examining some of her sketches, he offers her a job. Mary, working late, is accused of copying a design in Castle's shop and is dismissed by Francine Long, his head buyer. Tony comes to Mary's rescue with a job in his advertising department. Tony begins to see Mary frequently. Before long their friendship ripens into love.
(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 6

THE TELEPHONE buzzed angrily. Mary reached for it and smudged charcoal on the front of a white linen blouse that had been crisp and clean an hour before. She pushed the damp curls out of her eyes and picked up the instrument.

"Hello . . . yes, this is Miss Barrett . . . oh, I'm sorry. You see we decided to hold the sale at the last minute . . . yes, the copy will be sent over immediately . . . fine. I'll let you know what we're running Saturday . . . no, I'll have to speak to Mr. Castle about it."

She hung up, wiped her sticky hands on a smock that was too hot to wear and went back to the problem of sketching a short ermine jacket when the temperature hovered around a hundred in the shade.

The door at the back of her hot-box studio immediately beyond the workshop opened. Kay Ericson, Castle's secretary, popped her head in.

"She collapsed on a chair covered with proofs. Mopping her forehead with her handkerchief, she let off steam:

"Phew! You don't mind if I try to cool off, do you?"

"Not at all," Mary answered pleasantly, "if you give me the secret."

"You may think it's hot here but you ought to be in the boss' office," Kay retorted. "Between the temperature and his temper."

"Temper?" Mary asked mildly. Tony had the reputation among his employees of being "sweet."

"Maybe you'd call it agitation. Can't say I blame him. Henry Gordon just sent over a play for him to costume"—she waved a blue-covered manuscript in the air—"and Francine would take this time to have appendicitis. He's called out every good designer in New York and no luck! Most of them are in Paris for the openings."

A bell began to tinkle distantly in Mary's agile mind. Quite casually she nodded toward the blue-covered manuscript. "Is that the play?"

"It is! And I've got to type six copies of the darn thing. Isn't that just my luck when Herb wanted to take me out to Westchester tonight? How I'll ever—"

"Can type it for you," Mary said as if it were nothing more than a nice gesture. "As soon as I finish this sketch I'm through. That sales copy takes a lot of work off my hands today. I'm a pretty good typist." Then she added:

"Oh, Kay, please let me do it! You don't know how much I've got to know about that play!"

Liane Weston—tall, slim, ash-blond, New York's favorite comedienne. Typing the play, memorizing every situation, every nuance, the very genre of it as it came from the playwright's mind. Mary kept a clear picture of the actress in mind.

That night while the city wilted under heat that drove its dwellers to the parks in search of vain sleep, Mary Barrett twisted her silken ankles about the stool before her drawing board. Above her a cruelly hot light blazed and at her side was pitcher after pitcher of iced coffee.

Across the courtyard, Mrs. Gallagher reached sleepily for the alarm clock, shut it off and shook her husband into wakefulness.

"Get up, Mike. It's 6 o'clock and time you wuz gittin' me breakfast tray." That was Mrs. Gallagher's little morning joke. Then she got up and cooked sausages and pancakes, put them on the table and lowered herself into a place opposite her ruddy-faced mate. She looked out the window across the courtyard and stirred her coffee.

"Will you be lookin'?" She waved her spoon to the window where a light still blazed across the way. "That poor little thing is still workin'! All night, too. Ah, it's glad I am, Mike, you're a prosperous cop. I'd hate to be havin' a 'd' like that."

It was only 8 when Mary entered the Castle shop that morning. She didn't go directly to her studio; she stopped at Tony's desk and laid the contents of her portfolio there. Then she went out to a longshoreman's breakfast of sausage and pancakes.

"What's the matter with all of you? Wasn't any one of you aware of what was going on here yesterday? Somebody must know where these came from! Am I supposed to believe in Santa Claus?"

The angry, excited voice was Tony's. Mary paused in the passageway and hugged herself silently. Then she knocked at his door and opened it.

"Perhaps Mary knows where these came from. They aren't even signed. Some nit-wit . . ."

She looked at the sketches. "Oh," she said casually, "they're mine."

"You . . . you mean these are your originals?" Incredulous. She nodded.

When the others had gone, she picked up the sketches one by one. The first showed a saffron gown weighted with sable. A gown that was both sophisticated and young. A gown to be worn by a woman who knew the world but not how to cope with it. A gown for Liane

Large Gatherings At Two Family Reunions

Tipton Assembly Is Held at Charles Niles Camp

Approximately 113 members and guests of the Tipton family gathered at the Charles Niles Camp, Sunday, for their annual reunion. Following a bountiful basket dinner served at noon, the annual business session was held. During the meeting officers for the ensuing year were chosen, the officers of last year being re-elected. They are Clyde Pontius, of Columbus, president; Mrs. Eura Hughes, of Columbus, secretary treasurer. A committee was named to arrange for the reunion for next year, which will be held on the last Sunday in July, in the State Fair Grounds, Columbus. It is comprised of Loren Martin, of Lancaster; Charles Tipton, and Mrs. Hughes, of Columbus.

Following the business meeting, the afternoon was passed in social visiting.

Honoring Mrs. John Lloyd, of Bourneville, and Mrs. Florence Slager, of Columbus, a group of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd and enjoyed an all day picnic and family reunion.

Dinner was served on the lawn at noon and games and contests were enjoyed during the afternoon. Many gifts were received by the honor guests.

Included in the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Mace, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mace and son Harold Eugene, of Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Leroy Shoemaker, and Ruth Springer, of Bourneville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Grimes and sons Dan and Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gardner, Louis Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Lloyd, of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Albert and daughter Virgene, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Mace and family, of New Holland; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Slagle, of Sidney; Mr. and Mrs. Foreman Slagle and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schulz, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mace and family, of Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Springer and son Dean, of Hallsville; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McCafferty, of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mace and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Brown and family, Forest, Evelyn and Harvey, of Jackson township.

Today's Recipes
BLUEBERRY MUFFINS—Two cups flour, three tablespoons baking powder, two teaspoons sugar, one teaspoon salt, one egg, one cup milk, one-fourth cup melted butter, two-thirds cup blueberries. Grease 12 to 18 muffin pans, depending on their size. Sift flour, measure and return to sifter. Add baking powder, sugar and salt as each is measured. Break egg into mixing bowl, beat, add milk and butter, beating each in. Sift in dry ingredients. Stir just enough to mix well, but not to make the batter smooth. Add blueberries. Lift the batter by spoonfuls into the greased pans, filling them two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven 425 degrees Fahrenheit, from 20 to 25 minutes.

FAMILY PASTRY—Mix and sift two cups pastry flour with one and one-half teaspoons salt and work in two-thirds cup lard, using tips of the fingers. Moisten with one-half cup cold water, toss two-thirds of mixture on a slightly floured board. Pat and roll in rectangular shape. Spread with one tablespoon lard and dredge with flour. Cut in thirds lengthwise;

pile strips one on top of the other. Fold in halves and then in quarters. Again pat and roll out, spread, dredge and fold as before. Cut in halves, turn over, having cut edges come on top. Pat and roll each piece to fit muffin tin, and bake until brown. Fill with chosen creamed mixture.

Tasty Sandwich Spread
One pound summer sausage, one-half pound salted peanuts, two-thirds cup sweet pickles, one-third cup stuffed olives. Put through medium knife of the food chopper. Mix to proper consistency with boiled salad dressing. This good served on soft rye bread.

YOUR CROCHET HOOK NETS A BUTTERFLY

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

This Set Is Quickly Made

PATTERN 5907

Such fun—to watch these dainty butterflies flit from your crochet hook and come gracefully to rest on the back of your favorite chair. Something new and smart in easy crochet, too, for the butterfly's wing is started with but one simple needle, and the rest is worked round this—two medallions form an arm rest. You can do it in one or two colors! Make matching butterfly set or scarf-ends too! In pattern 5907 you will find directions for making a chair or buffet set, and scarf; illustrations of the chair set and of all stitches used; material requirements.

Send your order to The Herald, Pattern Department, 210 N. Court-st. Circleville, Ohio.

ENDING SALE TO YANKEES BOOSTS STOCK OF KANSAS CITY BLUES

ARDS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL WITH COLONELS

Loss Leaves Columbus Full
Game Behind League
Leading Millers

INDIANS DEFEAT HENS

Brewers Win Both Ends of Twin Tilt With St.
Paul, 11-7 and 6-5

BY UNITED PRESS

Pending sale of the Kansas City Blues to the New York Yankees and probable player deals today sent that team's stock up as fans predicted a quick rally from the slump which has sent the Blues to sixth place in the Association race.

Apparently all that was lacking to make the sale official was signature of Col. Jacob Ruppert to the contract. The sale agreement had been approved by George Weiss, manager of the New York club's chain teams.

Already Weiss had shown Blues officials how to unsnarl tangles involving purchase of players. Kansas City yesterday snatched a 10-9 victory from Minneapolis, but lost the nightcap of a double-header 1-0. The Blues came from behind in the ninth with four runs to win the opener.

In the second game, Ted Klein held the Millers scoreless until the ninth when a single, a bunt, a sacrifice and a roller combined to bring in the winning Minneapolis run.

Columbus split a twin-bill with cellar position Louisville. The Colonels took the first game 11-10 but dropped the second 7-3.

The loss left Columbus one full game behind Minneapolis, the league leaders.

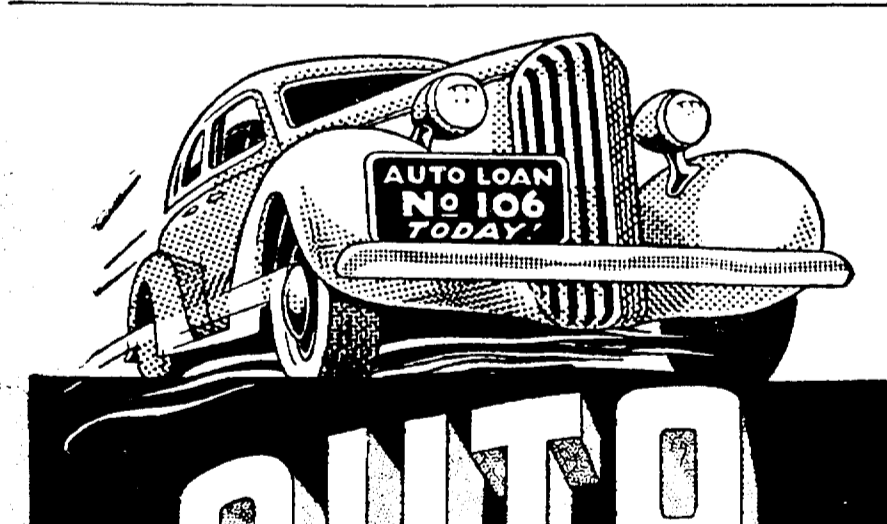

Indianapolis edged out Toledo 4-3 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was rained out. Lefty Logan out-pitched his old teammate, Dizzy Trout, who was jerked out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Milwaukee took both games of a doubleheader from St. Paul, 11-7, 6-5.

George Blaeholder and Forest Pressnell were the winning pitchers, Bill Cox and Johnny Welch the losers.

Bob Boken hit a homerun in each game for St. Paul and Gullie hit one for Milwaukee in the first.

PEDRO STAKES TITLE IN TILT AGAINST RAMEY

HOLLYWOOD, July 26.—(UP)—Pedro Montanez, scar-faced Puerto Rico youngster who has not been beaten for six years, will gamble his chances for the lightweight title tonight against Wesley Ramey in Hollywood's first outdoor boxing show.

The young Spanish Jew is the key of a $35,000 program expected to draw a crowd of 25,000. Already contracted to box champion Lew Ambers for the title in New York this fall, Montanez will stake his impressive record in meeting the cool, crafty veteran from Grand Rapids, Mich. Both will weigh 135 pounds.

YESTERDAY'S HERO: Rookie Tom Winsett of the Brooklyn Dodgers who clouted a home run with two mates on base in the 11th inning to overcome a two run deficit and beat the St. Louis Cards, 6-5.

Joe Morrissey also hit a homer for St. Paul in the second game.

Rookie at 31

NEARING HIS thirty-first birthday, James Riley Turner is celebrating his first year in the majors as a "promising" rookie right-hander for the Boston Bees.

Jim's case is unusual, for most ball players are about ready to quit baseball as a livelihood at that age and Jim is just beginning.

For 12 years he has been rambling around the minors seeking a major league job. He has pitched some good ball and some bad. He did manage to get a brief tryout with the Boston Red Sox in 1924, his only appearance prior to this year.

He started with Winston-Salem in 1925 and subsequently hurried for Greensboro, Portsmouth, Norfolk and Hollywood before joining Indianapolis in 1933. With the Indians he worked himself up into one of the classic pitchers in the loop and last year climaxed his work with a record of 18 wins and 13 losses.

Turner was born in Antioch, Tenn., and makes his home in Nolensville, where he runs a business during the winter. He is six feet tall and weighs 185 pounds.

SARAZEN COPS GOLF'S RICHEST PRIZE FOR 1937

CHICAGO, July 26.—(UP)—Gene Sarazen, one of the toughest front runners in the game, carried off the season's richest medal today for letting the field beat itself trying to catch up with him in the Chicago open golf tournament.

Last to fall was the redoubtable Harry Cooper, who staggered in with a seven and a six on his last nine when even pars would have captured the $3,000 first prize.

Even with two miserable holes coming home through the dusk, Cooper muffed a third chance to tie Sarazen's leisurely 290 by pulling his tee shot short of the 11st green, taking a bogey four where a par meant a chance to tie.

Coupled with Cooper in second place at 291 were Ky Laffoon and Horton Smith, of Chicago, who blew themselves out of the picture with bad nine-hole sequences.

Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., jumped into fifth place with the lowest round of the tournament, a 69, which gave him 292 for the 72 holes.

Sarazen's three-day card was packed with brilliant recoveries and hard shots made to look easy, but not one of the four rounds produced an exceptional score. He was seven over par for Medinah Country Club's tournament courses.

KAY TUTWILER FREED

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—(UP)—Kay Tutwiler, motion picture extra who was held after the death of Mrs. Dorothy May Garland, was released today when a coroner's jury held the young attorney died from acute alcoholism. Mrs. Tutwiler told the jury she did not beat Mrs. Garland, as charged by Dr. Wendell W. Starr.

REDS WIN AND LOSE IN TILT WITH PHILLIES

Stingless Boston Bees Rap
Pirates Twice and Move
Up in Standing

GIANTS SHUT OUT CUBS

Yankees and Sox Split Pair and Tigers and Red Sox
Win Washouts

NEW YORK, July 26.—(UP)—The Boston Bees of 1937 are digging up the ghost of their illustrious predecessor, the Boston Braves of 1914, who flashed from the National league cellar on July 19 to the world championship of baseball in October.

The "stingless" Bees, pre-season favorites to battle the Philadelphia Phillies for the cellar berth, are pressing hard for a first division berth, only two games behind the fourth-place St. Louis Cardinals, and 12 games behind the leading Chicago Cubs.

They have been playing at a 733 clip since June 27 when they began their rise from the cellar, winning 22 out of their last 30 games.

The last two wins were registered over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday, 5-2 and 7-5. Guy Bush limited the Bucs to five hits in the opener, and Lou Fette received credit for his 13th win in the nightcap, although he was removed for a pinch-hitter in the sixth inning when the Bees put on a four run spree to go out ahead.

This double triumph enabled the Bees to gain a game and a half on the Cards, who were defeated, 6-5, by the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first game of a double-header, and then carried to a 7-7, 12-inning tie in the second game.

The New York Giants salvaged the third and last game of the series against the Chicago Cubs by scoring a 5-0 shutout behind the six hit pitching of Harry Gumbert, who completed his first game in 10 starts. The loss cut the Cubs' leading margin to two games.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia divided a twin bill, the Reds taking the opener, 13-9, as Hollingsworth scattered nine hits, and the Phillies winning 7-3 in the final behind the six-hit flinging of Lamaster.

The American league leading New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox split a pair. The Yanks broke a three game losing streak by outslugging the Sox, 12-11, in the opener. Dickey collected two home runs and DiMaggio and Cosselli hit one each for New York. Walker hit one for Chicago. The Sox triumphed 7-6 in the second.

The Detroit Tigers outslugged the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-9, in six innings before their double-header was rained out, and the Boston Red Sox finished five innings 4-1 ahead of the Cleveland Indians before their scheduled twin-bill was washed out.

PENDING SALE TO YANKEES BOOSTS STOCK OF KANSAS CITY BLUES

BIRDS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL WITH COLONELS

Loss Leaves Columbus Full Game Behind League Leading Millers

INDIANS DEFEAT HENS

Brewers Win Both Ends of Twin Tilt With St. Paul, 11-7 and 6-5

BY UNITED PRESS

Pending sale of the Kansas City Blues to the New York Yankees and probable player deals today sent that team's stock up as fans predicted a quick rally from the slump which has sent the Blues to sixth place in the Association race.

Apparently all that was lacking to make the sale official was signature of Col. Jacob Ruppert to the contract. The sale agreement had been approved by George Weiss, manager of the New York club's chain teams.

Already Weiss had shown Blues officials how to unsnarl tangles involving purchase of players. Kansas City yesterday snatched a 10-9 victory from Minneapolis, but lost the nightcap of a double-header 1-0. The Blues came from behind in the ninth with four runs to win the opener.

In the second game, Ted Klein-hans held the Millers scoreless until the ninth when a single, a bunt, a sacrifice and a roller combined to bring in the winning Minneapolis run.

Columbus split a twin-bill with cellar position Louisville. The Colonels took the first game 11-10 but dropped the second 7-3.

The loss left Columbus one full game behind Minneapolis, the league leaders.

Indianapolis edged out Toledo 4-3 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was rained out. Lefty Logan out-pitched his old teammate, Dizzy Trout, who was jerked out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Milwaukee took both games of a doubleheader from St. Paul, 11-7, 6-5.

George Blaholder and Forest Pressnell were the winning pitchers, Bill Cox and Johnny Welch the losers.

Bob Boken hit a homerun in each game for St. Paul and Gullie hit one for Milwaukee in the first.

PEDRO STAKES TITLE IN TILT AGAINST RAMEY

HOLLYWOOD, July 26.—(UP)—Pedro Montanez, scar-faced Puerto Rico youngster who has not been beaten for six years, will gamble his chances for the lightweight title tonight against Wesley Ramey in Hollywood's first outdoor boxing show.

The young Spanish Jew is the key of a $35,000 program expected to draw a crowd of 25,000.

Already contracted to box champion Lew Ambers for the title in New York this fall, Montanez will stake his impressive record in meeting the cool, crafty veteran from Grand Rapids, Mich.

Both will weigh 135 pounds.

YESTERDAY'S HERO: Rookie Tom Winsett of the Brooklyn Dodgers who clouted a home run with two mates on base in the 11th inning to overcome a two run deficit and beat the St. Louis Cards, 6-5.

Joe Morrissey also hit a homer for St. Paul in the second game.

About This And That In Many Sports

Army Meets Athletics

It's the Battery Company boys against the Circleville Athletic Club tonight in a Tri-County Recreation loop fray : : : Games are still being played on the Container Corporation field with indications that a couple of more weeks will be required before the Mound street electric company field is ready, high water having played havoc with the park : : : Other games during the week follow: Tuesday, Yellowbud vs. Container Corporation; Wednesday, Sohio vs. Cooper Oils; Thursday, Coca Cola vs. Williamsport, replacing Kingston in the league; Friday, Yellowbud vs. Cooper Oil

Anderson Down Aisle

Read with much interest where Creighton Anderson, Pickaway township's ace of the hardwood court, has marched down the middle aisle, so that means that some other basketball team in the county may gain the tourney title next Spring : : : There's no fooling that Anderson had could carry the ball when it came to the cage game : : : Carl Burger, scheduled to return to Pickaway as mentor, will have to do some building to replace the flash : : : And we read again where Candescant finished out of the money : : : Circleville bettors are staying with the Carpenter sprinter, but not quite so faithfully as a year ago : : : Another horse, this one a three-year-old trotter, Gayle McKinnie, owned by Harry Shorth, is doing a lot in the world of harness racing : : : The trotter with a record of 2:05 has won five straight races : : : "A & P" Cramer has been knocking off some solid cash in various harness events staged on Ohio's tracks in recent weeks

Feller vs. Di Maggio

Ye janitor has finally seen young Bob Feller twirl, but the game turned out to be all Joe DiMaggio's : : : The Yankee Italian clubbed a double, triple and home run, the latter coming with the hassocks clogged to break up a 1-1 ball game : : : The double and triple were synthetic, both deserving to be outs, but there was no question about the circuit clout *It came down in the left field stands : : : Bob Feller is far from through as a ball pitcher : : : The Indians in his first four games scored only eight runs for him, getting 3, then 2 and 1, and even Hubbell, Dean etc. can't win ball games on scores like that : : : The Cleveland rookie had speed to burn, his control was just fair, but his fielding was just fair, but put it down in your little blue book that he'll win lots of ball games *As for DiMaggio, he always has been and will continue to win for the Yankees

FISTIC BATTLE STARTS PAROLE VIOLATORS BACK TO STATE CELLS

POLICE FORCE KEPT BUSY BY CRIME WAVELET

Two Men and Two Women Arrested on Charge of Statutory Offenses

SEVERAL HELD AS DRUNKS

Jail Population Reduced As Offenders Serve Out Fines and Costs

A southend fight that kept the police force busy from midnight Saturday until daybreak Sunday headed two men toward Ohio penal institutions and two others into Mayor W. J. Graham's court Monday.

Burl Hill, 43, and James Toles, 26, both negroes, will be returned to the penitentiary in Columbus and the reformatory in Mansfield, respectively, for parole violations. Hill was recently released after serving time for a statutory offense, while Toles was sentenced for chicken thefts.

Richard Davis, 30, and Ralph Emerine, 53, both white, were free under $10 bond to appear Monday at 7:30 p. m. for hearings. They were fighting with the negroes.

Police said the fight followed an argument. Officers returned to the "briar town" district twice before the trouble was halted. Several other men were questioned but only four arrests were made.

Hill, receiving a cut lip was the only casualty. Other charges of varying degrees were filed in the mayor's court during the week-end, said by police to have been the busiest in many months.

Two men and two women were arrested for statutory violations. John Smith, 51, Lefe Eby, 32, Mrs. Stella Rambo, 32, and Mrs. Bessie Lowery, 30, spent the week-end in jail after serious statutory charges were filed.

George Rambo, husband of Stella Rambo, claims she and Smith were living together from July 11 to July 25 while he and his wife were estranged. He swore out the warrant for their arrest.

Police say Eby and Mrs. Lowery committed an offense in the presence of four minor children.

A fight, but not of the "alley" fashion that placed Hill, Toles et al behind the bars, resulted in Floyd Giffen, York street, and Glennie Rutter, Glouster, posting $5 bond each for appearance Monday evening in mayor's court.

They were arrested in the north-end, neither contender was injured. Several arrested for intoxication furnished bond and others remained in jail for hearings. They included Roscoe Bailey, drunk and disorderly, $10 bond; James Smith, Route 5, intoxication, $3 bond; John E. Ours, Londonderry, intoxication, $3 bond; Elmer Cooper, drunk and disorderly, $5 bond; John Lowery, intoxication, not guilty, hearing Monday evening; Elias Hart, ordered from the city; Clyde Ireland, South Bloomingville, intoxication, $5 bond.

The county jail population was reduced during the week-end with several persons freed after serving their fines and costs. Herbert Croushore, arrested for the U. S. Veterans' hospital, Chillicothe, after he walked away, was returned by officers of the institution after his arrest by the sheriff's department. Onno Wilson served out $10 and costs. F. W. Johnson, Columbus, magazine salesman, paid $36 balance on a fine of $50 and costs for fraud after he served a 30-day sentence. Mrs. Mae Brane, S. Washington street, paid $10 and costs for intoxication. Robert Reynolds, Route 2, paid a balance on a $10 and costs commitment.

FARM AGENTS OF COUNTY TO MEET THURSDAY

Farm Bureau agents of Pickaway county will meet at Gold Cliff Chateau Thursday to discuss fertilization methods and products.

Prof. Satter, agronomist at Ohio State university, will speak and a stunt by a group of 4-H Club boys and girls will be included in the program.

Fertilizer representatives of Ross and Fayette counties have been invited to attend.

A chicken dinner will be served at the Tavern at 7 o'clock.

Congress Perspires, But Keeps on the Job

KEPT at their desks by pending important legislation and with the outlook for early adjournment extremely unfavorable, Senators and Congressmen bore up bravely under the terrific heat which gripped the capital city. At left, in Senator Wagner of New York; in center, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, and at right, Representative Sabath of Chicago, seeking a little coolness in Washington.

SAFETY CHIEF GRABS ALLEGED LIGHT CRASHER

Safety Director Charles O. Caskey set an example for the members of his police force Saturday evening when he flagged down and arrested a red light "crasher" at Court and Main streets.

Caskey, standing near the intersection, said he saw Charles Strickland, 53 1/2 W. Broad street, drive through the light. He halted the autoist and took him to police headquarters, after which Strickland provided $2 bond.

Ernest Dozer, Meade, paid $5 and costs to Squire H. O. Eveland for using improper lights on his automobile. He was arrested by Constable Marshall Spangler.

C. OF C. SEEKS ENFORCEMENT OF AUTO LAWS

A Chamber of Commerce committee comprised of James I. Smith, Jr., Paul Johnson and T. O. Gilliland was appointed Monday noon to confer with Mayor W. J. Graham and Safety Director C. O. Caskey concerning apparent lack of observance of traffic laws in Circleville.

The chamber, meeting in the American Hotel coffee shop, discussed the traffic situation, scoring the practice of heavy trucks moving through the city at high speed. President W. E. Wallace appointed his committee at the conclusion of the meeting, the members planning to meet soon with city officials.

The Rotary club at a recent meeting adopted a resolution urging officials to enforce the city's traffic ordinance.

Mack Parrett, Jr., secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was instructed to write to officials of the Northwest Territory celebration to urge them to send their ox-cart caravan through Circleville this Fall.

PRISONERS SPEND SLEEPLESS NIGHT IN CITY JAIL

So many persons were in city jail Saturday night that no one was able to sleep. Cots were not available for all the 18 arrested on various charges during the night. The activity of the police department from midnight until 5 a. m. Sunday was the most intense in recent years.

FOUR SCHOOL BOARDS TO MEET MONDAY EVENING

Four school boards meet Monday evening. Purchasing of equipment for the new Darby township building is the most important business. The Darby board has been studying bids since last Monday night. Supt. G. D. McDowell will meet with the Darby board.

New Holland's educators will meet to employ a Latin, mathematics and commercial teacher, and Deer Creek's board meets to transact routine business.

The Perry township board will meet Tuesday evening to hire a superintendent to succeed Harold Costlow, who resigned to accept the New Holland superintendency.

JAPS FORCE WAY INTO PEIPING

Heavy Firing Precedes Fall Of City Gate; Chinese Suffer Heavy Loss

ed battle between Japanese and miles southeast of Peiping on the railroad to Tientsin. Chinese troops were reported retreating toward Peiping under a punishing fire from pursuing Japanese infantry and planes.

500 Chinese Slain Chinese sources asserted that 500 Chinese were killed in the Langfang battle, in which Japanese war planes bombed a Chinese barracks.

Gen. Sung was said to be so angry at the attack, and the Japanese ultimatum, that he ordered the 35th division, whose men were in the battle, to organize a counter attack and take Langfang tonight.

The Japanese withdrawal demand apparently was much more sweeping than previous demands, and calculated to prove so humiliating that even if authorities ordered the troops to go, the troops themselves might elect to make a hopeless stand against the Japanese war machine, preferring death to dishonor.

The Japanese threat to bomb barracks was understood to have included specifically those at Hsi-yuan, Papaoshan and other places south and southwest of Peiping.

Japs Gain Victory Chinese troops were to be sent 85 miles south, to Paotingfu, leaving the Japanese in possession of their lines. It was understood that the Japanese aimed particularly at the 37th Chinese division, which has not proved submissive to them.

Six thousand Japanese troops, in special trains, passed through Tientsin today on their way to the Peiping front.

Both sides accused the other of responsibility for the serious battle at Langfang. Japanese alleged that Chinese fired on a signal corps party. Chinese charged officially that Japanese arrived at Langfang, announced they intended to garrison the town, demanded room in the Chinese barracks and fired on the Chinese when refused.

FRANK SHAFFER DRAWS FINE ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Frank Shaffer, 34, of Pearl street, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to the county jail for 30 days, Monday, when he admitted possession of illegal whiskey for sale. Shaffer's hearing was conducted before Judge J. W. Adkins.

Shaffer, said by Sheriff Charles Radcliff to have been selling "moonshine" whiskey for a long while, was arrested early Sunday by the sheriff and Deputies Earl Weaver and R. E. Armstrong.

The sheriff and his aides went to the Shaffer home with a search warrant at 1 a. m. They found enough whisky to fill a five-gallon keg, and numerous empty bottles. Shaffer's wife, the only person at home at the time of the raid, was placed in jail, but Shaffer was arrested later near his home. He admitted possession of the liquor and Mrs. Shaffer was released.

CURES RUMORED AS LEPROS END VISIT TO SHRINE

ALLAHABAD, India (UP)—More than 1,000,000 persons, most of them afflicted with terrible diseases, visited the shrine of the Muslim Saint Syed Salar Masud Ghazi during the annual 30-day pilgrimage which has closed. The miraculous cure of eight lepers was reported.

This shrine attracts lepers and the blind from all over India, particularly during the "mela" or pilgrimage season. Attendance this year was the greatest since 1930.

During the mela the marble tomb of the saint, whose affectionate name is Balay, Mian, the bachelor saint, is washed seven times a day with a "mask" (about 70 gallons) of water. This water is preserved in a reservoir connected with a drain large enough to hold a number of persons in single file. The afflicted persons line in this drain until cured or until expiration of the mela period, when the thousands of disappointed return home to await another chance the following year.

recess instead of adjournment if congress is determined to depart. La Follette emphasized that he spoke only for himself, but he had been in the closest contact with Barkley and the President for two days.

One supreme court vacancy and the possibility of further retirements within a fortnight kept the high court in the political picture. But it has been excluded from the judiciary bill which opponents of Mr. Roosevelt's original program have drafted and which may be reported to the senate today.

House leaders planned to begin the week with a bill to establish an administration for the Columbia river Bonneville dam and thereafter to vote Mr. Roosevelt a tiny slice of what he sought last January in a message proposing reorganization of the executive departments. The bill now proposed in the house would deal with civil service and merely give the President funds with which to obtain six White House administrative assistants. The qualifications for these jobs, as stated by the President, is a passion for anonymity.

What is left of Mr. Roosevelt's judiciary reorganization bill is not expected to require much senate time, although Rep. Martin Dies, D., insists that nearly 300 representatives have banded together to vote that the supreme court shall not declare legislation unconstitutional with less than a two-thirds majority.

20,000 ITALIAN TROOPS AID IN MADRID DRIVE

MADRID, July 26.—(UP)—The pick of the loyalist army fought desperately on the front west of Madrid today to check the most furious attack that the nationalists have made in more than a year of civil war.

Twenty thousand Italian troops were reported to have joined Moors, foreign legionnaires and nationalist, carlist and fascist troops as the climax of the battle neared.

Gen. Francisco Franco, nationalist commander in chief, was at the front personally directing the attack, realizing that the battle had developed into the most important that the war has produced.

The loyalist position was serious. It was confessed frankly that the fate of thousands of the best men in the Republican army, including members of the famous international brigades, hinged on the success with which reinforcements held back the insurgents.

Losses on both sides were frightful. Nationalist troops advanced with astonishing determination in the face of point blank machine gun fire to storm loyalist entrenchments.

In the blistering sun of mid-summer, thousands of wounded lay without food or water among the fast rotting bodies of the dead. It seemed almost unbelievable that attackers and defenders to a halt. Since dawn Saturday when the nationalists subjected Brunete to a six hour bombardment that all but pounded the village into the ground on which it had been built, the nationalists and loyalists had been attacking and counter attacking, under the burning sun, under the stars. The dirt caked infantrymen on whom all wars depend fought despite hunger, thirst and exhaustion, like cornered animals beyond suffering. As they fell new men took their places.

prevent incoming or outgoing shipments of meat. He said the union had refused to lift the embargo long enough to permit four companies to ship perishable meat and meat products to other cities.

The packing company workers are demanding a preferential shop, a 25 percent wage increase and a 40-hour week.

Meanwhile grocery stores either were out of staple foodstuffs, or reported that supplies were low. Some stores sold out of butter and eggs during the Saturday rush hours, but expected to replenish supplies today. Others reported shortage of sugar, canned goods and other staples.

Prices advanced. Eggs sold at from two to six cents a dozen higher, while butter brought as much as five cents a pound more than when the strike started.

Strikers made no attempt to interfere with delivery of staples and meats to hospitals and charitable institutions. But both groups, rivals on other strike fronts, joined forces in an effort to cut off other supplies. The International Longshoremen's association refused to unload shipments of meat which arrived by boat, and union sympathizers would not unload shipments which arrived by rail.
